Monday	Notes:	Objective:  Lesson Overview: No school	Academic Standards:
Tuesday	Notes:	Objective: Students will develop an introductory understanding of public policy opinion and political ideology formation.  Lesson Overview: Tuesday - We'll talk through how we'll tackle the rest of the course, discuss whether or not we want to do a presidential election, and look at your assignment for Wednesday. If we have time, I'll let you work on the quizzes below in class.  For class Wednesday: Take the political ideology quizzes at:  Pew Research Center Political Typology Quiz  ISideWith  When you take these, you'll have the opportunity to answer more questions than just the initial list. I'd do that if you have time, it will sharpen how the tool places you on the political typology spectrum. As usual, I don't care where you place, I just want to you have sense of where political scientists who do this for a living would place you. We'll talk more about the results toward the end of the semester when we cover how people form their political ideology. Be prepared for a discussion on your perspectives.	Academic Standards: POS 110 Standard 1
